Dear Sir/Madam,

Re: Application for the Pupillage Programme

I am writing to apply for a place on Fitch Attorneys' Pupillage Programme. As a final-year student at the Ghana School of Law (Call to the Bar expected October 2026), I am drawn to Fitch Attorneys' standing as a full-service corporate and commercial firm with genuine cross-border reach, and I am keen to complete my pupillage in an environment that would expose me broadly to the firm's core service areas under the guidance of an experienced supervising lawyer.

Over the past year, I have built a practical foundation in corporate and litigation support through my internship at Eight Geeks @ Law, where I have carried out due diligence searches and regulatory compliance checks at various regulatory centers and various Municipal Assemblies, filed documents at the High Court, and conducted legal research to support associates and senior lawyers on active client matters. Earlier, during a placement at the High Court, Nsawam, I observed civil and criminal proceedings first-hand, which gave me a working understanding of courtroom procedure and judicial reasoning that I believe will be valuable during pupillage.

I recently completed the White & Case US Professional Skills Job Simulation on Forage (August 2026), where I practiced prioritizing competing deadlines, drafting professional correspondence to senior stakeholders, and managing a fast-paced workflow, skills I expect to draw on directly in a demanding corporate practice.

I do not yet have a fixed practice-area preference, and I see that as a strength for pupillage: I am approaching this stage of my training with an open mind and a genuine willingness to be guided toward the areas where I can contribute and grow most, whether that turns out to be corporate and commercial work, tax, dispute resolution, or another of the firm's practice groups.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background and work ethic could contribute to Fitch Attorneys during my pupillage, and I am happy to provide any further information or references you may require.

Yours faithfully,

Josephine Biennaimee Amankwah
